Dear Fred,

I want to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation for the exemplary job you did providing security during the months before and during the Woodstock '94 Music and Arts Festival. Your calm presence and readiness to deal with any situation, especially in the face of the crises and chaos during the festival, was reassuring to us all. I know that the security forces serving with you felt confident under your guidance and direction; and, I particularly want to thank you for taking charge when systems broke down and others gave way to panic. Even after too many hours without sleep, when the mud was ankle deep and the crowds grew restless, you stuck with your job and were an outstanding example to everyone you came into contact with. It is thanks to the extra efforts of people like you that Woodstock '94 will go down in history as a week end of peace and love for a generation of young people. You played a major part in maintaining a sense of safety and security throughout this monumental event.

In closing, I just want to say that should you ever require a job reference, I would be delighted to give you a top recommendation.

Sincerely,

Michael Lang
